Kana KUWASAKO “Unnatural Nature”

“Unnatural Nature” is Japanese photographer Kana Kuwasako’s debut publication. Shot in forests and mountains in her home of Hokkaido, Kuwasako’s images present a recreation of her own sensations of the photographed locations rather than strictly visual captures of their appearance. Her approach renders natural landscapes as bright, complex images that reflect on the origin of their creation as much as on the artificial concept of nature.

The publication is designed like a wall-mountable calendar; each individual page can be torn off and enjoyed on its own.
